me: I'm in IRC at the moment and we're discussing the next plan me: I and the MiNd propose that we implement new and legal methods by which to support Tunisians me: as they secure their rights me: you would be able to participate openly in such a case Anonymous: you wont get much from them for that over there Anonymous: most of the people over on anonops are good at breaking shit online me: and this would also show that we are able to build as well as destroy Anonymous: not so much at the legal crap me: yes, but they're receiving it well Anonymous: indeed Anonymous: by all means continue Anonymous: if its possible, great me: We only need a couple of key people to agree in order to get the ball rolling me: and we can do it through Project PM anyway Anonymous: talk to joe me: I'll talk to my Tunisian contacts and keep you updated Anonymous: if you can get joe to come along Anonymous: get him to try and bring the others Anonymous: he has been an op in that channel since day one Anonymous: and is very active Anonymous: PKE has been around since day one as well me: oh, yes me: I met him me: can you provide me e-mail for him and Joe? me: I'm making a list of them (kept secure) so I can remember who said what Anonymous: they are sitting there talking to you right now Anonymous: bother them me: I'll try to put the Mind in charge of the ones who are worth working with Anonymous: yeah, TheMind is probaby a good person to work with on that angle Anonymous: there is a lot going on Anonymous: since im finally on the computer again after days Anonymous: im being pulled in 50 directions Anonymous: http://typewith.me/freecountries Anonymous: thats where a lot of talk about whats next is going on me: okay, left a message for them Anonymous: so i was given something

Anonymous: http://www.sba.gov/Anonymous: the small business arm of our gov Anonymous: they seem to recognize just under 9 million small businesses in the US.
Anonymous: I was handed that db yesterday Anonymous: its .csv file dumps Anonymous: broken down by state, like AK.csv Anonymous: name, complete contact info, email, website (if they have one) Anonymous: 95% have email addresses.
Anonymous: I was given it by someone who basically said "i dont really have anything else of value to offer, but you guys might find this useful" Anonymous: no idea what its useful for. me: hmmm me: Let me ask the relevant folks me: It will be good to have Anonymous: im running the emails through a validator, if for no other reason then having valid data is better than not Anonymous: looks like 70% or so good addresses, which is a huge number for a validator heh Anonymous: we'll have to see what value this is Anonymous: but i have it now me: wonderful. we should keep it relatively quiet, of course; best to hide our capabilities me: at this point me: we're going to see stepped-up interest on the part of governments Anonymous: i am still really out of it Anonymous: still have a fever and whatnot me: I'm going to be talking to Eisler about how to deal with such interest me: gotcha
Anonymous: but im slowly coming back to normal Anonymous: so hopefully im ready for tomorrow Anonymous: we should have a decent turnout tomorrow here in Boston Anonymous: the TPB logo change helped a ton
